The Williamsport Area Community College
1005 West Third Street Williamsport, Pennsylvania

The Williamsport Area Community College. A window to the world. A portal through which we "see dimly but then face to face."

WACC is a college where students may learn and also become involved with life. Whether we are going to the Wednesday night dance, getting involved in student activities, or canoeing with the Outing Club, there is always something happening on or around the campus community.

After the fun and work is over, graduation arrives. As our formal education is completed and all those sleepless nights with the books and the coffee pot are over, the graduate finally realizes that the portal has now become a door. He is ready to make the transition into society and use the skills and talents he has obtained.

It is indeed a challenge for the student who must find his place in the turmoil of society — a society that does not run on homework and grades, but rather on the perpetration of capitalism and power. He must suddenly become responsible, competent, efficient, and willing to take initiative. He must "either lead, follow, or get the hell out of the way."

One of the most difficult tasks facing a yearbook staff is the selection of a theme. The theme is the foundation on which the book is created. A theme, therefore, must fulfill many requirements; it must be one that students can relate to; it must act as a unifying force throughout the yearbook; and it must be broad enough to encompass the many facets of WACC that we are presenting, but yet not so broad as to become elusive and secondary. Clearly this decision is an important one, requiring a great deal of thought.

The theme that we have selected for Montage '78 is "Transitions." The dictionary definition of transition states that it is a passing from one condition, place, activity, etc. to another. We feel that this sums up fairly well what most students experience at WACC. In fact, in our view, transitions that take place during college are among the most dynamic one will experience. The changes that occur as a result of your college experience are those that open the door to your future. The skills you have learned, the friends you have made, the discoveries that you have made about yourself, these things are the foundation for your future.

Transitions are also scary. You are now on the brink of yet another transition. You may be transferring to another college or planning your career. You may be wondering what tomorrow holds and just wishing that the security of today could remain. Needless to say, today is tomorrow's history. You don't have to face the future alone, though. The pages of this book are filled with memories and experiences that can remain with you wherever your path in life may lead. We have tried to put together a yearbook with an aesthetic value that will increase, rather than diminish, as the years go by. We hope that we have succeeded. We wish you a happy tomorrow.

Dedicated to the students of the Williamsport Area Community College. These students whose ambitions and goals are their drive for success, are the life and blood of WACC. They have painstakingly studied and attended classes to become qualified craftsmen and professionals in their field.

For some this has been a stepping stone for further education in their field at various other colleges. It has been a place of learning for wives, senior citizens, and those whose education was interrupted for some reason. These people have realized that you are never too old to learn. Learning is a life-long process and at WACC, they are welcome.

Our future, the future of WACC, the community, and our country, rests on these students. Now, they are the life of WACC, one day they shall be the life of our country. They will be decision-makers, office-holders, and laborers. Just as at one time they showed their concern for the welfare of WACC so also shall they be concerned with the well-being of our country. They shall be the pulse of our nation, keeping it alive for this generation and generations to come.

The students of WACC. Our people, our future, our pride.

Things change with time and so has WACC. Career Education and Career Development services; a special concern for providing equal opportunities for handicapped, women, older adults, and minorities; an increased emphasis on individualized instruction and developmental studies, and an effort to implement a new Facilities and Site Master Plan, are some of the most recent changes challenging WACC.

In the past year, WACC has changed in order to respond to the needs of the people we serve. We must continue to respond to changing manpower needs and the unique needs of each student if we are to remain a dynamic, viable community college. The health and vigor of WACC can be measured by the way we respond to the challenges facing us.

Horticulture Club

Flowers, flowers, everywhere. Literally. The horticulture club tiptoes through the tulips, daffodils, mums, roses, and many other flowers in their greenhouse.

These budding horticulturists make and sell Christmas wreathes and terrariums. After growing and potting them, they sell plants of various kinds such as poinsettias and mums. The greenery around WACC can be attributed to the work of these talented greenthumbs.

See that forest over there? You don't! Well, there will be one some day and all at the hands of the Horticulture Technicians Association of WACC.

Circle K

For those interested in the welfare of the future generation Circle K is where you should be.

Children are innocent, carefree individuals. Children are hurt easily. Children play and think simply. Most of all, children are human. They need to feel love and understanding.

Circle K is interested in bringing happiness and a smile to the face of underprivileged children. They are continually and unselfishly giving to those less fortunate.

They support a theme like "Embrace Humanity" and, as the theme suggests, they really get involved and show the community that they care.

Our Circle K Club is the helping hand at WACC.

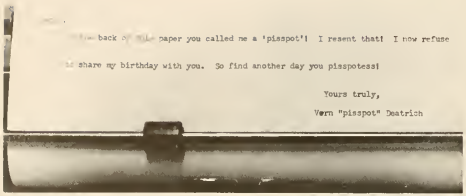
Food and Hospitality Management Student Organization

The food and hospitality students concern themselves with a good, as well as, attractive meal.

This organization helps to build confidence and experience in its members.

Their activities for the year include field trips and working in the community for different organizations.

Spotlight



back ... paper you called me a 'pisspot'! I resent that! I now refuse
... share my birthday with you. So find another day you pisspotess!

Yours truly,

Vern "pisspot" Deatrich

The SPOTLIGHT. Yes it is a club, but it is more than a club, it is our college newspaper. For some it is the instrument for learning a way of life.

It's the creation of the students in Journalism. It is their responsibility to help it grow, and like children, learn from their mistakes because "out in the real world . . . "

And, of course, for others it simply the voice of WACC. Informative and entertaining.

Want to know what's going on around campus? Read it in the SPOTLIGHT. Our reporters don't have press hats but they do have a nose for the news. They are easy to spot. They have big ears and carry a notebook everywhere.

Gamma Epsilon Tau

"The science and knowledge of the art and craft of letters."

This honor society is for both men and women who wish to broaden their knowledge of the Graphic Arts.

The common interest of these students brings them together for many activities. They have sponsored dances and other activities as well.

Outing Club

Their quest — To climb yonder mountain. Their goal — To have fun while doing it.

The Outing Club is an active group of outdoorsmen who take pleasure in backpacking, canoeing, horseback riding, and any sport that presents a challenge.

No athletic ability is needed for the outing club. Only a love of the out-of-doors and good clean fun. There are many experiences and opportunities to be had while becoming involved in activities of this kind.

WACC Band

Society of Manufacturing Engineers

This club is just what its name says. These students who are working to be tomorrow's engineers, are kept very busy with such activities as a turkey raffle, a home entertainment raffle, an archery tournament, and the all favorite field trips.

They also hold special dinner meetings for the purpose of viewing different processes and tools used.

With activities such as these, our future is in good hands.

Sports Car Club

Chi Gamma Iota

Our veterans are a special group of people.

They have served from two to six years in a branch of the armed services. They have had many experiences and seen a lot of places.

Now, after having returned from doing their duty, they have chosen to further their education.

The veterans club sponsors two scholarships. They have also funded college activities and sponsored community projects.

It's a funny thing
this whole deal
about closing chapters.
My mind slips
back to the Proverbial Sands of Time.
Sands that fill
my hand
and I
Clutch
Grab and Try to hold them
but they flow
endlessly.
Flowing, Slipping
RePlacing.
It's almost there
but Never quite.
With sad facination I
watch them go
But it's a Funny Thing how they keep coming and Going.
But the funniest
Sadthing is feeling a grain
that you Particularly Love
Slip silently Away.

be yourself . . .
who am i . . .
ambitious . . .
a whole new way of life. freedom,
responsibility, disappointment,
excitement . . .
i like you just the way you are . . .

As I walked to the classroom I joined the procession of students who seemed to be marching to their doom. The hour of that fateful test was upon us. Strain, worry, and sleeplessness was reflected in the faces of everyone as they crammed as much into their unreceptive brains as possible in the minutes remaining.

We all sat nervously as the test was passed out. "It's 50 questions long! That'll take forever!" As I looked down over the first few questions a groan escaped from my very being. "How will I ever get through all this! I know I studied but I just can't seem to sort it all out."

After what seemed like hours I finally finished and very slowly, very thoughtfully gathered up the pages, put them in order and walked to the front desk to hand them in. With a hopeful, reluctant, look on my face I handed them to the prof', and with one quick motion he whipped the papers from my hand, dropped a checkmark on the top one, and balanced them precariously on top of the pile to be corrected.

When we, as students, are no longer encouraged to openly question and criticize what we are being taught, the entire educational process becomes little more than systematic indoctrination.

"Where else in the world can you go from the Tropics to the Antarctic without even leaving the building — but WACC".

Afterword

Rumor has it that this may be the last yearbook. We hope it is not! It is our opinion that this would be tragic. A yearbook is forever.

Our creative efforts were directed at the production of a book full of the memories and emotions that are experienced in student lifestyles at WACC.

This monumental task, taken on by a few for the enjoyment of many, is our effort at preserving a small piece of history. I'm truly thankful to all those who transcended their lifestyles and became the life-blood of Montage '78. (This is the result of their dedication and work.)

Grab on to it, hold it, cherish it, look at it often, feel the emotions, remember and enjoy.
